Frequently Asked Questions

8. How frequently is income distributed?

Returns on the Fund are calculated on the daily balance and are paid quarterly in February, May, August and November.

For illustrative purposes, an example is shown below, with the default option of interest being automatically reinvested in the account.

Formula: Balance * Distribution Rate / 365
Example: Opening Balance as at March 1st	$100,745.49
Daily Interest Calculation $\frac{100,745.49 \times 1.35\%}{365} = \3.7262
Interest Credited at end of day, May 31 st , (3.7262 x 92 days) =	$342.81
Balance as at June 1 st	$101,088.30

Alternatively, instructions can be given by the unit holder to have income distributions from the RMMF credited to another account in the Bank.
